Summary

I have appeared (led) in the High Court and Federal Court and have represented a taxpayer (unled) before the General Anti-Avoidance Rule Panel of the Australian Taxation Office.

I have a substantial advisory practice (both led and unled) in taxation law, commercial and corporations law and regulation, superannuation law and regulation, trust law and administrative law.

I have been briefed by law firms, accounting firms, a regulatory body, commercial enterprises and individuals.

Before coming to the Bar in 2016, I had many years' experience in:

- advising (professionally and in-house) on the taxation of financial transactions, financial institutions, cross-border transactions (including corporate acquisitions and disposals) and the taxation of income and gains derived through trusts, and
- developing, evaluating and implementing complex banking transactions as an institutional banking executive.

I have a deep understanding of the banking and finance industry, financial products and associated law and regulation.

I am proficient in the interpretation of accounts and accounting standards.
